Anya Petrovic is a Professor of World Literature, she completed Post Graduate studies at the Australian College of Applied Psychology and Art, as well as, Fashion and Graphic Design in London. Her life completely changed, when, as she put it, 'Tesla happened to her'. She now travels the world lecturing and teaching at seminars. She gave a talk at the International Tesla Science Conference in Philadelphia and at the British Columbia University in Canada. Her book, 'Tesla Metamorphosis - Heal and Evolve', was presented at the International Nikola Tesla Congress in Belgrade. She has also appeared on TV and radio shows in different countries. Her heart, passion and focus have been in alternative healing for more than two decades.

Tesla Metamorphosis is a healing modality named after legendary Inventor, Nikola Tesla. According to Scientists, this is the only healing modality which has access to Tesla Waves. Tesla called them 'Non-Hertzian Waves'. He explained that they are different, not only in the frequency but also in their structure and form. They are multidimensional and are not in the domain of the physics we currently understand. Tesla Metamorphosis attracts great interest because of the amazing healing results, its effect on the evolution of human consciousness, and because of some completely unique phenomena connected to this work.
